

EDVIN KLANG

Your family has long served the Hatt family, one of Stockholm's wealthy merchant dynasties and part of the inner circle of the Rosenbergers. The Rosenbergers are rivals of the Society who view vaesen as evil and seek to destroy them. You are a loyal servant, but have long had doubts about the righteousness of the Rosenbergers' beliefs.

You have been sent to the National Archives to copy a collection of secret texts on ancient rituals held in the Egyptology Section. The texts may not leave the library, which is why you have spent several days poring over them by the light of your kerosene lantern.

LOYAL

Gain +2 on Fear tests in the presence of someone you have sworn to protect.

Servant

MOTIVATION

To one day become master of your own life and help innocent vasesen.

TRAUMA

You gained the Sight when, as a boy, you witnessed Mr Hatt torturing a vaettir he had caught in the kitchen. The experienced marked you deeply. You felt a strong kinship with the vaettir - they had served the household for decades, just like your family. Was this their reward?

DARK SECRET

You serve the Rosenbergers but are quietly seeking a chance to break free.

RELATIONSHIPS

PG1: You feel sympathy for Miss Una.

PG2: Professor Gabler's research may prove valuable to the Rosenbergers.

PG9: Mr Mäkinen is a bully.

PG10: Mr Orlyk is an honorable gentleman.
