

UNA EKBLAD

You had a harsh upbringing at the Public Orphanage of Stockholm, where you arrived at the age of two under the name Fanny Silverström. You remember nothing of your life before the orphanage. Your only possession from that time is a key on a chain that you wear around your neck. Early in life you realized that you were different. You understand ancient languages no one has taught you, you have strange dreams, and you can make terrible things happen when you are angry or upset.

You have always wondered who you truly are. When you were fifteen, you quarreled with the matron of the orphanage, Elin Andersson, demanding that she tell you about your origins, only for her to suddenly drop dead before your eyes. Thinking it might somehow have been your fault, you fled into the streets of Stockholm and took the name Una Ekblad so no one would find you. In the city you found other magically gifted individuals who could guide you.

You now make a living telling fortunes in a tavern in White Hills. You have just heard that someone bearing the name Silverström once worked at the National Archives on Knights' Isle, and you are on your way there to learn more—perhaps you may finally learn who you really are?

MEDIUM

You can use OBSERVATION to perform seances where you predict people's futures and contact the dead. Extra successes provide more information, prolong the contact, or cause spirits to materialize. On failure you are given inaccurate information, attacked, or suffer a Condition.
